

DAY 1 - Saturday October 31st

- (Peter) Went to Magic Kingdom with my parents. Felt like the Disney Expert being able to tell them to go left (while the crowds go right). We hit Jungle Cruise, Pirates, Big Thunder, Haunted Mansion, Space Mountain and Carousel of Progress before we ran into the big crowds. I knew where all the bathrooms and water was around the park, Holly had trained me well! We ended the day with a big ol hot dog from Casey's Corner because of all the food in the Magic Kingdom after all that fun a good dawg sounded good.
- Holly woke up later and went to breakfast with her family so that she could see them off.
- Holly and I met up with my parents and then went to Epcot where we rode spaceship earth and universe of energy - which my parents loved. Then we met my Brother and his Wife outside of Mission Space. The Men went off to do the orange line while our ladies waited outside. After having our insides compressed we headed over to the Garden Grill for our dinner reservation. Father is middle school PE coach but became a little kid around the characters. Garden Grill's menu was fantastic and had a little bit of everything for everyone. My parents still rave about the "cone cupcakes" we had for dessert.

DAY 2 - Sunday November 1st

- Went to Riverside for Breakfast, very busy and crowded compared to French Quarter. Then went to Disney Springs and had lunch at Splitsville with some couple friends of ours. Great restaurant that is more than your average sit down but not quite STK. The grilled avocado and ahi tuna appetizer was amazing.
- Got dressed up as Oswald and Ortensia to go to the Mickey's Not So Scary Halloween Party. We got a "Hey Oswald and Ortensia!" as we came into the park - nailed it. Waited 2 hours to meet Jack and Sally. Then had the candy corn ice cream - good but mostly just sweet. Tons of people, lots of kids around getting the last day's worth of candy. Only did 2 rides, Haunted Mansion and Big Thunder. Went to Pecos Bill's for the first time and realized how awesome it was - Fajita Platter is a value. Then we sat down and got a great place for the parade which was AMAZING. We still can't get "Boo to you" out of our heads.
- Got a space right in front of the stage to see the Hocus Pocus show, of which Holly was enthralled by. Then we saw the projection show on the castle and then the fireworks, which were awesome. Much sleep. Very tired.

DAY 3 - Monday November 2nd

- Went to Hollywood Studios. Holly surprised me with a lunch at the Sci Fi Drive In. Food was OK, atmosphere is awesome. Definitely worth doing at least once. Saw Fantasmic for the first time that night, loved every minute of it. Peter squeed a little when Chernabog showed up.

DAY 4 - Tuesday November 3rd

- Woke up late and went to the Grand Floridian to get a couples spa at the Senses Spa. What we learned about the Senses experience and how to maximize it in the future.
- Uber'd back to the Hotel. Went to Magic Kingdom all dressed up in the evening for a reservation at Be Our Guest. Holly almost cheated on me with Prince Naveen. Be Our Guest was an interesting restaurant, a little crowded but it could have just been our seats. Food was amazing, dessert was amazing.
- Skipped fireworks to go do rides while everyone else was looking up.

DAY 5 - Wednesday November 4th

- FOOD AND WINE DAY!!!
- Started at The Chew near Imagination and worked our way around the world counterclockwise.
- SCOTLAND ROCKS - Haggis, Potato Pancake and Salmon, and Seared Scallops
- HAWAI'I ROCKS EVEN HARDER - Holly's Favorite
- Cheese Studio - Goat Cheese with Guava Jelly
- Canada - Cheese Cheddar Soup and Filet, super delicious.
- Ireland - Kerrygold Warm Chocolate Pudding
- France - Brulee was on point.
- Belgium - Peter devoured a waffle.
- Italy - Limoncello Margarita
- Having to roll ourselves back to the hotel after all that food.

DAY 6 - Thursday, November 5th

- Packed up and went home!
- Peter tripped while taking pictures and drove home with a bloody knee and underarm. At least he didn't hurt himself until the very end!

PETER'S 3 THINGS

- Once rode the Orange Line on Mission Space 3 times in a row.
- Is a master Sorcerer of the Magic Kingdom
- And discovered that Gerald was his spirit animal when he saw Finding Dory.